

The Scientific Advisory Group on Emergencies (SAGE), established within the Academy of Science of South Africa (ASSAf), cordially invites you to the third webinar in the Webinar Series

Why Environmental Management Must Become The New Normal

The series aims to raise awareness on the importance of emergency risk mitigation in the context of environmental management.

How can we prevent future pandemics and human-driven environmental emergencies?

How should we manage the environment in a more proactive and integrated fashion?
